JOHN IMBIMBO CANDIDATE FOR STATE LEGISLATURE

A new type of hat has been thrown into the political ring.

Lt. A. John Imbimbo of the Wilmington Police Department yesterday declared himself a candidate for the nomination for Representative in the Great and General Court (Legislature) in the September primaries. Lt. Imbimbo is a registered Democrat.

The veteran officer has served a total of 25 years on the Wilmington Police Department, and is a Navy veteran of World War II, having served in all three theaters of the war.

Two years ago, he told the Town Crier, he seriously gave thought to being a candidate, but did not file when he heard that others were to do so. Then - he observed, nobody ran - "and I believe there should be some competition".

"I am a candidate because I believe Wilmington should be represented by a true resident of the town", he said.

Lt. Imbimbo, it is needless to say, is well known and well liked in Wilmington. He and his family live at 22 Cottage Street, and a daughter, Diana, has just been re-elected to the Wilmington School Committee.

Other Candidates

Rep. Fred F. Cain (D), who has represented Wilmington for several terms, filed his nomination papers with the Town Clerk Monday. Mr. Cain, who won a second place in the Time Magazine Auto Dealers Award, nationally, had his picture in Time Magazine, this week.

Selectman James R. Miceli (R), who has been acting like a candidate for some months, still refuses to say that he is. He has, to the Town Crier's knowledge, at least three sets of nomination papers circulating in town.

Organizational Meeting for Conservation

30 interested residents of Wilmington were present, in the Memorial Library, last Thursday evening, for an organizational meeting by the Wilmington Conservation Commission.

The meeting was for the purpose of organizing work study groups, to aid the commission in attaining its goals.

Guest speaker was Ralph Goodno, a Northeast Resource Specialist from the Essex Agricultural Institute in Danvers.

Mr. Goodno, in his talk, suggested a human resource survey, to find out what kinds of help the people of the town could offer. Help is needed in many areas, from secretarial duties to people interested in law, he told his listeners.

One educational project that could be included in the school system, he said, was testing water in the town. The students could test water, at various places, to pinpoint the sources of pollution.

"When you drive through Wilmington, is it a place where you would like to stop and visit?" was a question he asked, for visual testing, one of the tools necessary for a Conservation Commission.

He said that it would take a lot of "watch-dogging" to identify the sources of pollution, and felt that the commission should strive to make the people of the community aware of what Conservationists are. The goal of a conservation committee, as he defined it, is to keep a town liveable and enjoyable.

Wilmington, he said, is ahead of other communities, because they are already at work in the areas recommended.

Slides, showing the activity areas of the Conservation Commission, were shown by Frank Ottati, a member of the commission, and Arthur Bureau, chairman, spoke briefly in welcoming the group.

Sub-committees were formed for various areas: Education, Mrs. Ursula Leahy; Land Acquisition, Arthur Bureau; Land Management, Dan Townley; Pollution Control, Frank Colombo; Conservation Legislation, Frank Ottati; and Activity Integration has yet to name a chairman.

The Conservation Commission meets on the first and third Thursdays of the month, at the Rogers School. All interested are invited to attend.

POST OFFICE HOLIDAY HOURS

The Wilmington Post Office will be closed all day, July 4, and there will be no delivery of mail on that date.

There will be regular delivery on Friday, but the Post Office Window will close on Friday noon, to reopen on Monday at 8 am.

Mail boxes in the foyer will be open on Friday afternoon until 6 pm.

ARTHUR'S GREENHOUSE: Or The Queen's Subjects don't speak Yankee.

Arthur Allgrove of North Wilmington, who has appeared in the pages of the Town Crier on more than one occasion as the man who knows about lady slippers, rattlesnake plaitains, and Japanese Gardens, not to mention the birds and the bees, is now busy putting up an English Greenhouse, octagonal in shape, at the home of the Handrahan family on Salem Street, where a few years ago he built for them the 'Garden of Arthur'.

It is a wonderful greenhouse, which is to be inspected, it is understood, by the president of M.I.T. after it is completed. The only trouble is that the directions are written for people who live in Britain. Arthur and Dave Newhouse, carpenter, puzzled over the directions for hours, and a number of experienced carpenters who heard tell of the story yesterday came for a look, and departed shaking their heads.

At the close of the day it seemed that Arthur was able to understand what those British were saying, for the greenhouse was nearly finished. That's his son Bruce, in the background.

Drum & Bugle Corps will Compete July 10

The Wilmington High School Field is to be the scene of the 6th annual competition of the Drum & Bugle Corps of the Eastern Massachusetts Drum & Bugle Corps Circuit, hosted by the Wilmington Youth Crusaders and the Wilmington Swordsmen. The competition is scheduled to begin at 6:30 pm.

Approximately 1500 young people will be taking part in 'Music's Competitive Sport' under the floodlights.

A Drum Corps contest is not an ordinary music concert. It is truly a battle of skills, on drums, bugles, and in intricate maneuvering.

The show that the audience sees in such a contest lasts from five to thirteen minutes per corps, depending on their class. For such a relatively short performance the youngsters have devoted about eight hours of practice average, per week, since last fall, not only in learning their routine, but in perfecting it to the finest detail.

Each corps, stepping off at the starting line, is conscious of its own mistakes, and is gambling that the judges will miss them. But trained judges seldom do.

In addition to obvious errors of the wrong steps, or wrong notes, the corps are judged on the difficulty of their musical arrangements, and the difficulty of their drum parts, and on how well each is fitted to the other. Judging is also on how well the drill is designed to highlight the music, and such things as the use of the field, in the pattern, the positions of the instruments and equipment, musical attacks and releases, intonation, tempo, and on into music's finer points.

Sophisticated

Drum corps equipment, today, is much more sophisticated than the old stereotype of the army bugle and drum. Today's instruments are finely tuned instruments with ranges of three or four octaves on a bugle, to drums that are literally 'supersensitive'.

Many of the higher ranking drum corps, in Class B & A1, often utilize trained music men as their instructors. Class C corps often utilize playing members from the 'A' corps as their instructors in a training class because Class C is a training class.

At the present time the Swordsmen of Wilmington, a 'class C' corps, has its instruction from members of the Crusaders, who have had a minimum of five years of training.

A drum corps is no place for sissies.

If a boy or a girl is not willing to work and concentrate, be criticized, take correction, stay on good behavior and tolerate each other's faults - if they like to be pampered, they have no place in a drum corps.

Of course people who work so hard together also enjoy their fun together, even more. Travelling almost as a family during the season, they develop a bond much like that of a fraternity.

Being in a drum corps is a tough life for a youngster. It is meant to be. If a youngster can take all the hard work and reap the benefits of the competition, he will be better prepared, as an adult, to take life's disappointments and hurts. He will find that he can tolerate the mistakes of others more easily, and will be able to give credit where credit is deserved. Learning to appreciate other people, the youngster finds his own life is richer and fuller.

For the adults - drum corps mean better people in tomorrow's world. For the kids - they just love it!

The July 10 contests will be a good example of this. Those who attend will feel a lot better when they leave.

IT IS STILL LEGAL TO BURN TRASH IN WILMINGTON

A new law, effective July 1, makes it illegal to burn trash, and other rubbish, in most of the 102 communities of the Metropolitan District Area of Boston. The law is not applicable to Wilmington, in so far as the burning of small amounts of materials by home owners is concerned.

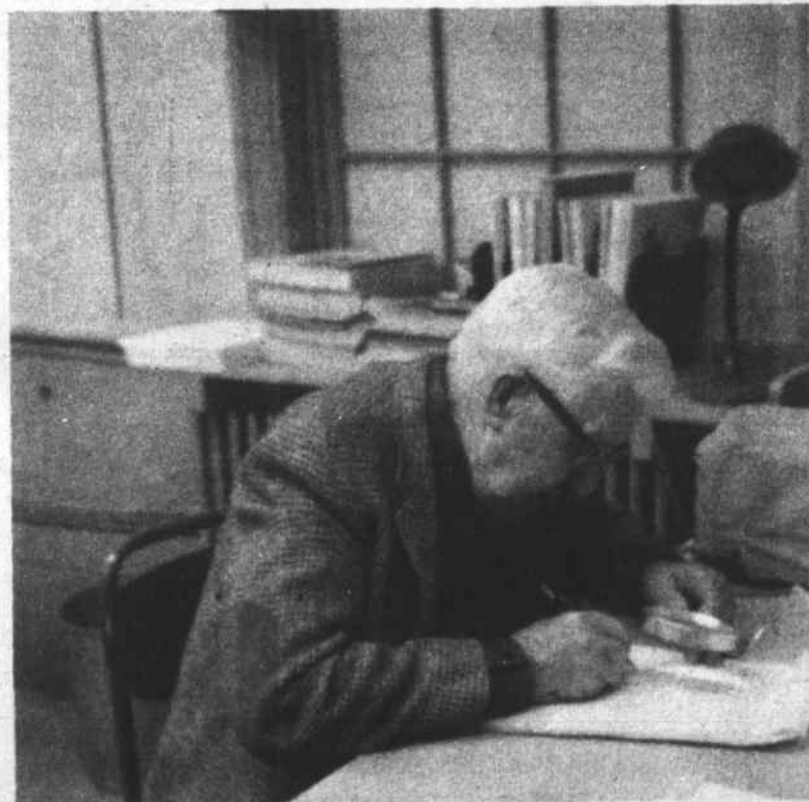

It does apply to other applications. Developers, for instance, may not burn trees or other wood, using tires as a 'base', nor may there be any fires of a commercial trash burning nature.

Wilmington is exempt for year because there is no municipal rubbish collection. The town does have a private commercial rubbish collector who charges only $18 a year, but this is not recognized, by the new law.

CRUSADERS SCHEDULE FOR HOLIDAYS

The Crusaders and the Swordsmen will both march in Malden, in the morning on Saturday, July 4th, and in Burlington in the afternoon. The Crusaders will also march in Norwood, that evening.

Both corps will compete in Pembroke, on July 5, at Whitman-Hansen Field, starting at 5 pm.

JOE RING RETIRED JUNE 30TH: Joseph S. Ring of Middlesex Avenue, chairman of the Wilmington Board of Registrars, retired on June 30th after having served the town on that board for about 25 years.

The Board of Registrars will meet with the Selectmen on July 13th to elect a new member to the board.

Asa's Old Blacksmith Shop

To people of Wilmington under forty years of age there is no memory of the old blacksmith shop that stood for over 100 years at the corner of Lowell and Woburn Streets - but to those of Wilmington who are at the half-century mark, or older there may be some fond memories.

It was always a broken down place, in the memory of Wilmington's older residents, something like the buildings in the Al Capp cartoons. But it was quite an institution.

It was, to the farmers and gentry of Wilmington, a very necessary place of business, to which they periodically took their horses, for new shoes.

The blacksmith would take down a horseshoe, from his rack, try it for size, then heat it up in his forge to make it fit exactly. After it had been hammered into shape it would be plunged into cold water, and then nailed to the horse's hoof.

It was quite a business, and a man had to wait until the blacksmith had finished his work, so - as in the modern service stations, there were items for sale, with which to beguile away the customer's time.

In a modern gas station the waiting person can buy a Pepsi, or some such soft drink. So could he, in the old blacksmith shop on Woburn Street, for there was always cold 'tonic' in readiness, and plug tobacco, too, for those men who wanted that particular item. And for the children there was a supply of penny candy - for sale, of course.

It is one of the more fond memories of the writer - the metal 'tonic' and 'plug tobacco' signs in the shop, used not only to advertise the commodities that were for sale, but for the more important purpose of plugging up the holes in the side of the building thru which would come wind and rain.

The blacksmith shop stood on property owned at the present time by Avco, at the corner of Woburn and Lowell Streets. It was run for two generations by men named Perry. John W. Perry, and his son John S. Perry. The corner, naturally became Perry's Corner.

In spite of its decrepit appearance it was a place of glamour, and Life Magazine, about 1935, proposed to write a story about the place. Pictures were taken, and two are being shown in this story, pictures that now belong to Lloyd Laffin of Veranda Ave., whose father, Morris, was the last blacksmith to practice his art in the place.

The shop was built by Asa G. Sheldon, who lived at what is now 604 Woburn Street, and was one of the more prominent contractors in Eastern Massachusetts a century and a quarter ago.

Asa wrote his life story, and called it 'Wilmington Farmer' a book of more than average interest, which, unfortunately, to be fully understood requires a detailed knowledge of the town as it was in the 1800s. The book was recently reprinted by the Friends of the Wilmington Library, and copies are available in the Library.

Asa did a lot of contracting - built bridges, laid down railroads, etc. He worked on the old Boston & Lowell, the track that goes through Wilmington Square today, the Wilmington & Andover, which today is called the 'Wildcat Railroad' for some reason which has always eluded the writer, and also on the Boston & Maine, the road that goes through North Wilmington. He speaks in his book of being in a party that scouted out a road for the old Salem & Lowell road, too.

In 1852 or thereabouts, Asa was one of three Commissioners appointed by the State Legislature to ascertain the place where the Baldwin Apple was first found.

Many towns in eastern Massachusetts, and even in New Hampshire were claiming to be the place where the apple originated, and printed tracts were appearing to substantiate those claims - some of which are still in existence.

The Commission made a thorough study, and determined, once and for all, that the Baldwin Apple first grew on a Butters family farm, in South Wilmington.

The book which Asa wrote did not allude to the fact that he was nearly broke, financially, in his old age, for such are the vicissitudes of life.

He was probably living in the house now the home of Stanley Webber, on Main Street at that time. He had a horse name 'Fremont', which he used to ride, stiffly, for old age was having its effect.

The name Fremont may lead to some conclusions about Asa in his older days - and may not.

Fremont was the name of an Army officer who had led exploring expeditions into the far West, in the 1850's and who was called "The Pathfinder". In the Civil War he served for a couple of years, without making any particular record for himself, and when he was relieved of active duty he became a politician. He was one of the many possible candidates who were named as people to run against Abraham Lincoln, in 1864.

Nichols Street Sidewalks

Almost every meeting of the Selectmen or the Planning Board brings up, in one way or another, the need for sidewalks in Wilmington. More money can be spent than is available, for such is the cry for sidewalks, principally for the use of school children.

Yet there are two streets in Wilmington in which the residents resist any ideas of sidewalks, for reasons of their own, one of these being the possible loss of land in front of the homes. One is Hopkins Street, and the other is Nichols Street.

*The Nichols Street bridge has been completed, and, according to Rep. Fred F. Cain there is still about $97,000 left in the account, which can be used on the approaches to that bridge - road or sidewalks. Town Manager Morris plans to put in sidewalks between the bridge and Shawshen Avenue, but even after that is done there will be in the neighborhood of $50 or $60 thousand available to be used. If the money has not been 'allocated' by December 31 it will automatically revert to the state treasury.

It seems a pity, with sidewalk money so hard to come by, that this money is not to be used when the opportunity offers.

True, there are problems, and true, people do not want to lose their front yards. Yet there is only one home on the entire street which really seems to have such a threat.

In a year or two the Jackson Brothers will be submitting plans for a new housing development off Nichols St. which will add 76 homes to the area.

With or without a sidewalk the street is doomed to be a much travelled way, with the new homes, and the two new schools - the Shawshen School, and the Technical-Vocational School in Billerica. People from Tewksbury will be using Nichols Street to get to that school. They cannot be stopped.

One of the difficulties is that no one can exactly predict what the County Commissioners will demand, in road widths, and where the County Engineers will lay down the lines for the taking of land for those sidewalks.

Wilmington has a past history of having the County Engineers make surveys for road widenings, and then having the surveys rejected by the town, and no one can blame the County Commissioners if they say that they will not authorize a survey without a certainty that the proposals to be made will be accepted.

The County, in recent years, has asked for and got 60 foot wide layouts. It is still possible, however, that a fifty foot wide layout can be had for Nichols Street.

The bridge itself has a 32 foot wide travelled way, and nine feet on each side for sidewalks, planting strips and curbstones. This totals 50 feet.

If nothing is done to utilize the money now available, a time will come in the not too distant future when it will be realized that the sidewalks must go in. By that time the new homes will be built, and costs will be higher.

As things now stand the residents of Nichols Street could get sidewalks without cost to themselves. Such will not be the case in the future, with the possibility of Betterments looming, which would have to be paid for.

The residents of that street should appoint a small committee, and visit the Town Manager and Town Engineer, or perhaps invite those gentlemen to one of their homes, to talk over the matter of sidewalks. Keep the Selectmen out - make it entirely non-political.

It could be that a little quiet talking, on a man-to-man basis, could achieve the desired results - so why not try?

A furniture re-finishing workshop, sponsored by the Middlesex County Extension Service, starts at 10 am today in the Wilmington Methodist Church, and will continue through the five Thursdays of July and August 6th.

The meetings will be held from 10 am to 2 pm. Miss Mary Mulvey and Mrs. Edna Rich, Home Economists with the Middlesex County Extension Service will be the instructors.

Refinishing is a hobby that requires some time, patience and energy, plus a little 'know-how'. The course teaches how to remove old finishes, to prepare wood for a new finish, and how to apply a durable sealer finish to a small piece of furniture.

MOSQUITO SPRAYING IS FROM 7 TO 11 PM

The Town of Wilmington Tree Department is spraying against mosquitoes, daily, Monday thru Friday, from 7 to 11 pm. The spray is a 'fog' which is propelled from a gun mounted on a 3/4 ton truck, starting this week.

Depending on the weather, the entire town is 'fogged' for mosquitoes every seven to nine days.

The material used is Malathion, a very low toxic, which is carried in a mixture of diesel oil. The jet gun propels the mixture for a distance of at least 30 feet, and with the right wind for a distance of several hundred feet. The Malathion lasts only about a week, that is, it has none of the long-lasting qualities of some of the earlier types of insect destroyers.

The larger truck, which until this week had mounted on it the 'fog-gun' used in anti-mosquito spraying is now back at work, daily, spraying trees. The present schedule is against the Oak Skeletonizers, which are at the present time dropping from oak trees. Oak Skeletonizers at the present state of development are little worms, about half an inch long, and green in color. If a homeowner notices them dropping from his oak trees he should take steps to destroy the grass or leaves into which they drop.

Another crop of oak skeletonizers are due in the fall - that is there are two generations each year.

Bike Riders

The biggest danger connected with spraying, by the town, is that children feel the slow moving trucks are wonderful for 'hitching rides', if they are on bicycle.

The truck operator is frequently unaware that this is going on, and the children can suffer injury as a result.

One child suffered a broken leg, in June, when the truck which he was riding behind pulled over to the side of the road, for working purposes, and he was propelled, bicycle and all, into a heavy clump of grass. The operator of the truck knew nothing of his presence until after the accident.

FR. JOHN McNEIL IS NAVY CHAPLAIN

Father John McNeil, formerly Curate of St. Dorothy's Church, and more recently at St. James Church in Haverhill, has joined the US Navy. He is now a Navy Chaplain, with the rank of Lieutenant.

Fr. McNeil was to have been assigned to Newport, Rhode Island, as of July 1, for a couple of months, and was then to go to Midway Island in the Pacific. However, because of the sudden illness of a Catholic Chaplain, his orders were changed, and he is now in Orlando, Florida, at the Navy's newest 'boot camp'. He reports that he likes the Navy very much, and has just received news that he is to be soon promoted to the rank of Lieutenant Commander.

His address is: Lt. John R. McNeil, ChC, USNR, Chaplain's Dept. Naval Training Center, Orlando, Florida 32813

Jay Tighe walked 17 Batters

MEN'S SOFTBALL

The Miceli Club maintained its hold on first place in Division I action this week with a pair of wins, 11-8, over Bemis and edging DeLoury 11-10.

Tuesday night the divisional leaders paced by catcher Joe Langone's 3 run homer, and Jay Tighe's gutty pitching, dropped DeLoury into third place with an exciting win. In this game Tighe walked seventeen opposing batters to make things interesting, but Jay was tough in the clutch, to post his eighth seasonal win.

In other games Bedell snapped its winless streak at eight, with an 18-8 drubbing of Compugraphic. To prove this was no fluke, George Foley's club stopped Sweetheart on Tuesday with a 10-4.

Newhouse Builders split their two encounters, bowing to DeLoury, 4-2, while stopping Bemis, 10-6, aided by four home runs off the bats of Ken Simard, Roy LaRocque, Larry Baldwin and Mike Farrell.

In Division II play Diamond Crystal moved into a tie for first place with Rocco's on Monday with a 5-2 win over K of C, while the Sons of Italy upset Rocco's 8-3.

Left fielder Don Norton was the outstanding player as he banged a grand slam inside the park homer, in the third inning, leading Crystal to its fourth win in their last five outings.

Jack Knowlton tossed a three-hitter at Rocco's to highlight the S.O.I. win. Outfielders Chuck Nickerson, 2 for 3, and Steve McNamara, 3 for 4 and 2 rbi's supplied the batting support for SOI as it snapped its four game losing streak.

Other games in Division II action saw Smithcraft stopping S.O.I. 10-6 with shortstop Ed Palumbo turning in three outstanding fielding plays for the winners, and Diamond Crystal edged Rocco's 4-3, behind the relief pitching of Ken Scarpegnato.

California Cuties

Hospital Fund Softball Game Tomorrow Night

Outfielders chasing fly balls with butterfly nets! A coach wearing miniskirts, from the coaching box! Singing on the basepaths. This is Softball!!! Its the way the California Cuties play it, and they'll be at the Town Park on Rte 38 tomorrow evening, displaying their antics... and a fine brand of softball. The Division I All-Stars will be on the other side of the diamond, trying to compete... and trying to win. The action with the Cuties is scheduled for 8 pm.

The Cuties (if the reader will pardon the expression) are men dressed as women, and will present an outstanding array of talent. Liza Jane, a svelte 5-8 and 190 pounds, is expected to start for the Californians. In reality he-she is Trino Palacios, who started all this nonsense in 1948.

Dumpy Dora will be back of the plate... several feet back. This sweet six-footer has been catching for several years and tonight should be no exception. The infield will line up with Liza Jane at first base, Scaggie Maggie at second, Main Street Sally at shortstop and Hefty Helen at third. Since the assorted infield - 200 pounds and 6-3, 190 and 5-10, 5-10 and 185, and 5-11 and 195 pounds respectively - doesn't figure to be able to blanket the Whole Infield, the troops have brought along short inflied, in the person of Susie, a 38 inch high zany of a girl-boy.

In the outfield, butterfly nets and all, will be Miss Fifi the Flirt, a 5-8 and 160 pound package; Skinny Minnie will be hustling in center field, while Wilma will patrol the right field spot.

The Wilmington Town League, Division I All-Stars will be managed by Bemis Mobile's own outstanding mentor, Jack Cushing.

Members of the squad include: Bob Flores of Bedell's; Jim Tildesley and Pete Emery of Miceli; Tom Stack, Bob McNabb and Danny O'Connell representing Bemis; Steve Liem and John Rose of Sweetheart Plastic; Bernie Bailey of Compugraphic; and Butch McFeeters, Dick Ethier, Joe Beaton and Dan Gentile of DeLoury Construction. From Newhouse Builders will be Mike Farrell, Roy LaRocque and Dave Newhouse.

It is expected that Stack and McFeeters will handle the pitching for the All-Stars, while the catching chores will be shared by Farrell and Ethier.

Proceeds from the game will go to the Wilmington Hospital Fund. Tickets may be purchased at the park tomorrow night, Adults $1 and children 50c.

Friday, July 3rd, 8 pm at the Town Park.

TAMBONE PLAN SIGNED

It took two and a quarter hours of discussion, Tuesday night, in the Planning Board meeting, before the Planning Board agreed to sign a plan for Anthony Tambone, Reading real-estate developer, and one of two men who developed the Wilmington Industrial Park, off Concord Street.

The story is a complicated one. Tambone had submitted three plans during the past weeks, all dealing with a parcel of land on Fordham Road, easterly of the KEV lot.

One was for four and a half acres, which Tambone is about to sell to a nationally known firm. It fronts on Fordham Road, but between that lot and the KEV place of business was left a strip of land one hundred and thirty feet wide, connecting to a back area of approximately 12 acres.

Another plan which had been submitted was for a road, to be called Cornell Place, which was to utilize the hundred-thirty foot strip and lead to the back area.

Tambone, during his discussion with the Planning Board had told them that he hoped in the future to divide the back lot into two or three parcels, for future industries.

The Planning Board had taken a dim view of the plans submitted, feeling that Mr. Tambone was laying out roads in such a manner as to give them no choice but to accept.

To overcome the sharp angle of the turn, Tambone had had his engineer design a couple of curves, to slow down traffic. The proposed Cornell Place was over 600 feet in length, another objectionable feature to the Planning Board.

The discussions, Tuesday night, went on and on. Attorney Joseph Courtney, who was with Tambone, told the board at one time that the 600 foot distance was something that dated back to the earlier days of housing developments, before industrial developments was subject to control. Industrial developments, he told the Planning Board, require different standards.

Several times, in several different ways, Tambone was told that the Planning Board objected to the layout of Cornell Place, and as the discussions continued it became plain that one salient feature to which the Planning Board members objected was the angle between Fordham Road and Cornell Place. It was too sharp, they said.

The Planning Board had had consultations with the Town Counsel, who advised them that Tambone's plan for the national firm, (Lot 41) complied with both the Zoning By Law and the Sub-Division Control Law.

It was entitled to be signed, as such, according to Town Counsel. He had suggested a lengthy statement to be affixed to the plan, which in effect said that the Planning Board was not committed to the approval of Cornell Place.

Tambone who was obviously anxious to avoid any more delay, which could result in the loss of the national firm, offered a number of compromise solutions to the Planning Board.

The net result amounted to (1) approval of Lot 41 (2) withdrawal of the back area as a separate plan, and (3) assurance by Tambone that he would attempt to negotiate a minor adjustment with the abutting manufacturing firm to modify the intersection of Cornell Place and Fordham Road.

The Planning Board noted that they must take final action on Cornell Place by August 4. They thanked Mr. Tambone for his cooperative attitude, and finally, after the long discussion, they signed the plan for Lot 41, adding to the plan the additional language suggested by the Town Counsel.

Letter

5 Chandler Road, Wilmington
June 29, 1970

Dear Sir:

This morning I took my child down to the Head Start program only to find out that I have to be on welfare or on mother's aid to be eligible, a fact that was not clearly stated in the Town Crier. It stated in the paper, and I quote, "it is a Pre-Schooler program, aimed primarily at orienting children who are entering school for the first time in September, i.e. First Graders." Naturally I assumed my child was eligible as he is entering first grade in the fall.

Wilmington is a town that does not provide free kindergarten for pre-schoolers. I may not be on welfare, but I still could not afford to pay almost $400 to send my child to kindergarten and I am sure there are plenty of parents in my position.

So here we are, paying taxes and helping people on welfare and mothers aid send their children to a pre-school program while because of the fact that we cannot afford $400 to send our own children to kindergarten, they are left with no pre-school training at all.

I work part time and my husband works ten hours a day to make a good living for us. I feel I have a right to be a little bitter about the discrimination that is being brought against my child because he is not poor enough to go to school.

I think the Head Start program is a wonderful thing for underprivileged children, but I also think it is about time that Wilmington offered a similar program for children like mine.

My son cried all the way home from the Woburn Street School, and he could not understand why he was not allowed to go to school. Neither could I.

Any parents who agree with my suggestion that the Head Start program should be extended to include all children who are deprived of kindergarten, please come to the next School Committee meeting, which will be held in the Roman House tonight (July 2).

The best form of exercise depends on your age, sex, physical condition, and individual preferences.

It should be something you enjoy doing, that fits easily into your daily schedule, and that is vigorous enough to give you the tonic effect you need.

Activities that would best satisfy these requirements for most persons include tennis, bowling, volleyball, handball, riding, swimming, skating, fishing, boating and gardening.

If you are not in a position to indulge in such activities get your exercise by waling or calisthenics. Make it a daily part of your program.

PRE-SCHOOL PROGRAM AT WILMINGTON PUBLIC LIBRARY

Due to the large response of the planned pre-school summer program at the Memorial Library, each child will be limited to one morning each week.

Programs are to be held four mornings a week, Monday through Thursday, at 10 am, for one hour. If parents have already registered their children, but have not been contacted by the librarian as to which day their children should attend the program, they should contact the library as soon as possible. The program began on June 29, and is scheduled to run through August.

This is a pre-school program and is limited to children who have not yet attended school. This does include those entering the first grade this fall.

PLANNING BOARD SCHEDULED TO MOVE TODAY

Unless Town Manager Sterling Morris changed his mind, in what was to be a special meeting of the Planning Board, last night, the offices of that board are to be moved today to the former Mildred Rogers School, on Grove Avenue.

The members of the Planning Board have not been happy over the prospect of meeting other than in the center of Wilmington.

Trucks have been readied to move the office furniture, and the telephone company has been alerted to change the telephones, today. The Planning Board is to have its new office in one of the front rooms of the former school building. The new Recreation Director, Kenneth Zucker, will have the other front room as his office.

The Welfare Department, which was to occupy three rooms of the old school, has changed its mind, and temporarily will continue their office in the Bender Building in Wilmington Square.

SWIMMING POOL CARE

by Bob Le Favour

The pool owner should be always on the alert against the development of what I call the "Green Horrors".

he growth of algae can cause slimy green blotches and stains on the sides and bottom of your pool. Heavy rains often introduce water born algae spores to your pool.

If this is followed by intense sunlight a situation can develop which is very conducive to the growth of algae by causing an increase in water temperature and a rapid rise in chlorine residual.

A schedule of daily treatment and regular testing of your pool will avoid this problem, but should the condition develop in your pool, a shockdosing of chlorine should be added at the end of the day after the day's bathing is completed.

At this time the available chlorine is consumed much more slowly so that algae can be combatted effectively.

Apply a dosage of 10 ppm. After this overnight treatment brush the pool walls and vacuum.

Before using your pool again.

check the chlorine residual. If it is too high (above 1.0 ppm) allow the pool to stand unused, or add fresh water until the desired range is achieved (0.6-1.0).

Watch next week for POOL PROBLEMS NO. 2 - Colored Water.

Bob Le Favour is the owner and operator of Le Favour's Searcraft Sporting Goods Shop, in Wilmington, and Le Favour's Sport Shop in Haverhill. For the past several years he has been associated with the swimming pool industry.

Mr. Le Favour operates the Enchanted Mountain Ski Resort in Jackman, Maine, and for the past several years has served as an advisor to the National Sporting Goods Association.

If there are question in this column, please call him at 657-7521, or visit his swimming pool headquarters on Rte 38 in Wilmington.

NEW REGISTRY OFFICE ASSURED

WITH REP. FRED CAIN: Of Wilmington as his guest, Governor John Volpe signed, Tuesday evening, a bill for the establishment of a Registry of Motor Vehicles office in Woburn, off Rte 93, for the better service of the surrounding towns. Rep. Cain spearheaded the drive, among the local solons, for the new office.

A Public Service Report From Representative Fred F. Cain

Volpe Signs Bill for Woburn Registry Site

From The Sun's
State House Bureau
STATE HOUSE—Gov. John A. Volpe today announced he has signed into law a bill authorizing the registrar of motor vehicles to acquire a site for a branch office of the registry in the City of Woburn.

The act, filed by Rep. Fred F. Cain D-Wilmington, was drafted to relieve congestion in registry branch offices in Lowell, Lawrence and Malden. Also, to better serve motorists in Woburn, Wilmington, Burlington, Reading, Stoneham and Winchester.

Rep. Cain has revealed that through the co-operation of the Right of Ways Division of the State Department of Public Works a location at the southwest corner of Route 93, bordered by Montvale Avenue and Hill Street, has been made available for the registry branch office. When constructed, it will be equipped to handle in excess of 70,000 motor vehicle registrations annually, said Rep. Cain.

The site of the office is centrally located so it may be reached within 10 minutes by motorists of all the communities it will serve.

Drug Committee now part of R.A.D.A.R.

The Wilmington Drug Committee has recently become a member of R.A.D.A.R. (Regional Association of Drug Committee Representatives).

R.A.D.A.R. is a united effort of communities to work in the prevention, referral and rehabilitation of drug abusers. The members share experience and resources with their neighboring communities. The Wilmington committee hopes to gain perspective as well as headway in their endeavors by being a member of this larger group. Other local communities involved include Tewksbury, Burlington, Wakefield and Lynnfield.

Members of the Wilmington Drug Committee have visited Marathon House and Project Turnabout, drug rehabilitation centers in Massachusetts. They have also visited Walpole State Prison to talk with inmates who are members of S.N.A.P. (Special Narcotics Addiction Program), a self-help recovered addict group; about their drug experiences. The committee hopes to find if education could have played a preventative role for the inmates, in their drug use.

The Committee has recently taken a Post Office Box (Box 213) for people who wish to seek assistance, offer suggestions, or ask questions. Members of the committee are James Durkee, Claire Cabral, George Mosher and Lester White.

There are always too many jobs to be done, too many things that can go wrong when you own a home.

Does this mean give up? Definitely not.

The way to beat this game is to aim for small victories, the sum total of which is a few hundred dollars a year in your pocket, and hours of time saved for doing the fun things in life.

Houses contain a fantastic variety of mechanical equipment, framing members, roof shingles, wall finish materials, etc. Your aim is to keep them all as functional as you can.

Time is your enemy!

For all the many jobs to be done around your home, come to A. B. Sweezy, INC. 615 Main St. 658-2051. We carry a complete supply of lumber; and we now have redwood in stock.

Store hours: 8-5 six days a week; Friday 8 am to 9 pm. There's no time like the present to beautify your home.

We stock Pittsburgh paints, Amerock Cabinet Hardware, Weiser and Weslock Hardware and cater to your tools and hardware needs.

HELPFUL HINT: Large holes in concrete driveways can be patched by filling the bottom with clean, good-sized stones, and then covering them with concrete mix.
